AWA Invests in Queensland

Brisbane, Australia, 12th April 2007, AWA, one of Australia's leaders in the information technology, telecommunications and electronics (ICT) industries has completed its move into new premises in Brisbane. This completes the relocation of all of its major offices in Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Perth and now Brisbane over the last 18 months. In each case the new premises have been a significant step up in terms of capability and presence.

AWA's Queensland operation is growing fast and the new premises are well suited to sustain this expansion. Located at Unit 1, 320 Curtin Avenue West, Eagle Farm the new facilities include offices, a 600sqm warehouse and a repair workshop.

The Queensland team also has a new branch manager, Rod Sprenger, who joins AWA from Alphawest. Rod's background includes working for Mincom, Mount Isa Mines and Queensland University.

"Rod has many years experience in managing service delivery and we welcome him to AWA," said Mark Rainbird, Managing Director, AWA Limited.

"As QLD Branch Manager I am looking forward to the challenge of managing the service delivery teams and looking after our Queensland and national customers," said Rod Sprenger, AWA Queensland Branch Manager.

"Our new facilities will help us to provide quality service and support for our local customers and to play our part in AWA's national service network," added Sprenger.
